

HONOURED BHP Billiton chairman and former Ford chief Jacques Nasser and transport boss Lindsay Fox were honoured at the American Australian Association in Melbourne last night. The association was set up six years ago to support a strong economic, cultural social and educational relationship between Australia and the US. Association CEO John Olsen described Mr Nasser as among the world's most important business leaders, while Mr Fox "built from scratch one of Australia's most successful companies, Linfox, while also working tirelessly to promote a range of charitable causes".