HEAVY HITTERS CELEBRATE
Chevron Australia boss Roy Krzywosinski and Rio Tinto iron ore chief Andrew Harding were honoured for their contributions to US-Australian ties at a gala function at the University of Western Australia. The pair were honoured at the American Australian Association benefit dinner - the first time the event has been held in WA. Qantas chief executive Alan Joyce, Woodside Petroleum and National Australia Bank chairman Michael Chaney and News Corp Australia chief executive Julian Clarke were among the business identities at the dinner. The two honorees had their portraits created in front of guests by painter Brad Blaise.
Sponsored: Colin Barnett, Mark McGowan, Stephen Smith, US Ambassador John Berry, John and Margarita Hughes, John Olsen and Richard and Jo Court.
